Thank you for joining the Black Mamas Matter Alliance (BMMA) in observing the 5th Annual Black Maternal Health Week 2022 (#BMHW22)!

Founded by BMMA, Black Maternal Health Week is a week of awareness, activism, and community-building aimed at amplifying the voices of Black Mamas, bringing visibility to Black-led maternal health initiatives, and centering the values and traditions of the reproductive and birth justice movements.

BMMA has created this internal social media toolkit as a resource to assist our partners with amplifying BMHW22 across your networks and channels. The toolkit includes messaging guidance around this year’s theme, “Building for Liberation: Centering Black Mamas, Families, and Systems of Care,” along with sample social media messages, shareable graphics, a list of national digital activities, and other information to help you engage with the campaign and our partners.

About BMMA

The Black Mamas Matter Alliance, Inc. (BMMA) is a national network of Black women-led organizations and multi-disciplinary professionals who work to ensure that all Black Mamas have the rights, respect, and resources to thrive before, during, and after pregnancy. BMMA honors the work and historical contributions of Black women’s leadership within their communities and values the need to amplify this work on a national scale.

For this reason, BMMA does not have chapters. The alliance is composed of existing organizations and individuals whose work is deeply rooted in reproductive justice, birth justice, and human rights frameworks.
BMMA is excited to be celebrating the fifth anniversary of Black Maternal Health Week! The 2022 theme is “Building for Liberation: Centering Black Mamas, Black Families, and Black Systems of Care,” which reflects BMMA’s work in centering Black women’s scholarship, maternity care work, and advocacy across the full-spectrum of sexual, maternal, and reproductive health care, services, programs, and initiatives. Additionally, this year’s theme reflects the critical need for learning about Black Feminist and womanist approaches in strengthening wellness structures within our communities and across the Diaspora as a revolutionary act in the pursuit of liberation, and in the global fight to END maternal mortality.

KEY TERM

BMMA uses the phrase “BLACK MAMAS” to represent the full diversity of our lived experiences that includes birthing persons (cis women, trans folks, and gender-expansive individuals) that are people of African descent across the diaspora (Afro-Latinx, African-American, Afro-Caribbean, Black, and African Immigrant). Black Mamas are taking control and building towards their liberation unapologetically. Whenever intentional change has been fostered, we have been on the frontlines, and now we are focusing on our own freedom and right to live and thrive. The work is not done until Black Mamas are liberated, respected, and protected. When investing in Black Mamas, we are pouring into the roots that act as the foundational strength of Black families and systems of care. We recognize, celebrate, and support those who care for and mother our families and communities whether they have given birth or not. We stand in solidarity with all Black Mamas.
KEY BLACK MATERNAL HEALTH FACTS

Outlined below are key statistics pertaining to various aspects of Black Maternal Health, along with a corresponding list of partners and collaborators who are working in each area:

MATERNAL MORTALITY

- According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, approximately 700 women die each year in the United States as a result of pregnancy or delivery complications. (Source: CDC)

- In 2020, Black women were most disproportionately affected with a mortality rate of 55.3 deaths per 100,000 live births, compared to 19.1 deaths per 100,000 live births, and 18.2 deaths per 100,000 live births for White and Hispanic women, respectively. (Source: CDC)

- The U.S. has an infant mortality rate of 5.6 per 1000 live births in 2019, with a health disparity among Black babies at a rate of 10.8 deaths per 1,000 live births in 2018. (Source: CDC)

- Black women are 3 - 5 times more likely to have a maternal death than White women in the United States. (Source: AJMC)

MATERNAL MENTAL HEALTH

- Black mothers are more likely to suffer from PMADs (Perinatal Mood and Anxiety Disorders) like postpartum depression, in silence, and without clinical help. (Source: NCBI)

About 75.5% of Black infants are breastfed compared to more than 85% of White and Latinx moms. (Source: CDC)

Among all infants, Black infants had a significantly lower rate of exclusive breastfeeding at age 3 months (39.3%) than did White infants (50.6%); at age 6 months, the rates of any breastfeeding were 49.3% among black infants and 60.0% among White infants. (Source: CDC)

Hospitals in areas with higher percentages of Black residents were less likely to provide recommended maternity care practices supportive of breastfeeding. (Source: CDC)

BMMA Partners Making a Difference: Black Mother's Breastfeeding Association, Black Girls Breastfeeding Club, Chocolate Milk Cafe, Perinatal Equity Foundation, Mamatoto Village

Black women are more likely than white women to report using a contraceptive method associated with lower efficacy (e.g., withdrawal, condoms) or no contraception at all. (Source: AMA Journal of Ethics)

Black women disproportionately lack necessary reproductive health care—including contraception, abortion, STI screenings, and reproductive cancer screenings. This leaves them vulnerable to many risk factors around pregnancy. Recent improvements in maternal and infant health across the 20th century are due, in part, to expand contraceptive access and use. (Source: CAP)

QUALITY OF CARE/ BIRTH JUSTICE

- People from some racial and ethnic minority groups are more likely to be uninsured than non-Hispanic whites. (Source: NCBI)

- Research indicates that 22% of Black women receive a lower quality of care than white women and are subject to discrimination in the healthcare field. (Source: NCBI)

- In 2008, only 6.4% of obstetrician-gynecologists practiced in rural settings. (Source: ACOG)

- Perinatal community-based models of care offer enhanced care and support throughout the pre-pregnancy to postpartum spectrum, including doula and midwifery childbirth services to pregnant women who face barriers to care. (Source: IMI)

African-Americans comprise only 13 percent of the total U.S. population, however, they make up 30 percent of the COVID-19 cases. (Source: CDC)

Multisystem inflammatory syndrome in children (MIS-C) is a rare but severe condition that occurs approximately 2–4 weeks after the onset of COVID-19 in children and adolescents. MIS-C disproportionately affects children and adolescents from racial and ethnic minority groups. More than 70% of reported cases have occurred among children who are Hispanic or Latino or non-Hispanic Black. (Source: CDC)

Pregnant people with COVID-19 are at an increased risk for severe illness from COVID-19—including illness that results in ICU admission, mechanical ventilation, and death—compared with non-pregnant people. Additionally, pregnant people with COVID-19 might be at increased risk for other adverse outcomes, such as preterm birth. (Source: CDC)
The Black Maternal Health Momnibus Act includes historic policies and investments in Black Mamas, families, and systems of care. Written by and for Black Mamas, the Momnibus invests in community-based organizations and the perinatal workforce addresses social determinants of health and the effects of climate change, promotes representative Maternal Mortality Review Committees and maternal mental health equity, and more.

Mandatory and permanent postpartum Medicaid coverage for one year fills a major coverage gap in Black maternal health. One-third of pregnancy-related deaths occur between one week and one year postpartum, with 12 percent of pregnancy-related deaths occurring after six weeks postpartum. Despite this reality, Medicaid currently provides coverage for only 60 days postpartum, with the temporary option for states to extend coverage to a year granted in the American Rescue Plan of 2021. This coverage gap is particularly dire for Black communities, especially given that nearly half of births in the United States and approximately two-thirds of Black births are covered by Medicaid.

The Black Mamas Matter Alliance (BMMA) is a national network of organizations and leaders from the maternal health, human rights, and reproductive justice fields. We believe that every woman deserves access to quality and holistic health care.

Founded by BMMA, Black Maternal Health Week is a week of awareness, activism, and community-building aimed at amplifying the voices of Black Mamas, and centering the values and traditions of the reproductive and birth justice movements. BMHW is held annually in April during National Minority Health Month.

BMHW22 is, above all, a week dedicated to educating and advocating for Black Mamas. Through a series of digital events and community engagement, BMHW uplifts Black women-led organizations to focus on the root causes of poor maternal health outcomes, while engaging Black voices to lead immediate conversations around community-driven policies and programs.

The #BMHW22 theme is “Building for Liberation: Centering Black Mamas, Black Families, and Black Systems of Care,” which reflects BMMA’s work in centering Black women’s scholarship, maternity care work, and advocacy across the full-spectrum of sexual, maternal, and reproductive health care, services, programs, and initiatives. Additionally, this theme reflects the critical need for learning about Black Feminist and womanist approaches in strengthening wellness structures within our communities and across the Diaspora as a revolutionary act in the pursuit of liberation, and in the global fight to END maternal mortality.

Black Mamas have always been the guide and bridge for families, communities, movements, and waves of change. The time is now to invest in the advancement in the movement for racial and birth justice. The historical atrocities we work against are deeply rooted in racial and reproductive oppression bent on controlling Black liberation and must be countered with community activation and prioritizing Black Mamas across the African Diaspora.
