2021 DONOR IMPACT REPORT

WWW.BLACKMAMASMATTER.ORG
Black Mamas Matter Alliance’s (BMMA) 2021 fiscal year was a transformative year because of incredible sponsors, and supporters like you.

Thank you for being part of the movement to advance Black Maternal Health, Rights, and Justice!

With your investment this year, we were able to share the challenges impacting Black birthing people, celebrate innovation of Black-led models of holistic maternal and reproductive health care, as well as amplify the voices of Black Mamas to shift the narrative to center our joy, activism, and creativity.

In 2022, BMMA will continue to center the incredible work of Black-Woman-led, community-based organizations creating innovative, holistic, and culturally appropriate initiatives, scholarship, and support services for Black Mamas, their babies, families, and communities.

With sincere gratitude,

Angela D. Aina

VIRTUAL FUNDRAISING DAY
Over 400 donors during our #BMHW21 Virtual Fundraising Day held on April 15th, helped us raise over $20,000, which exceeded our initial goal. To show appreciation for their generosity, we sent out custom swag items per donation level to donors.

BABY DOVE
Baby Dove announced the creation of the Black Birth Equity Fund to provide Black expecting mothers and birthing people with immediate financial access to Doula services. The new fund is part of Baby Dove’s long-term commitments to advance superior care, with and for, Black moms in partnership with leading advocacy groups like Black Mamas Matter Alliance (BMMA).

Doulas are on the frontlines with expecting moms and can help advocate for better care throughout pregnancy, at the birthing moment, and into the Fourth Trimester. Research shows that with the support of a doula, moms are two times less likely to experience birth complications, four times less likely to have a low-birth-weight baby and are more likely to experience overall positive health outcomes during the birthing journey. This effort is part of BMMA’s continued work towards ending racial disparities in maternal health that are contributing to the Maternal Care Gap.

LINCOLN LISTENS FIRST
We are a proud participant of the Lincoln Listens First campaign, hosted by Angela Rye, to hear from Black women creating safe spaces in our communities including our Co-Founding Executive Director, Angela D. Aina, Linda Blount of Black Women's Health Imperative, and Shanti Das of Silence the Shame.

Listen in on our discussions surrounding health and wellness. The full interview is available now on YouTube.

Underwood’s Bipartisan Legislation to Improve Maternal Health Care for Veterans Heads to President Biden’s Desk

The Protecting Moms Who Served Act is Underwood’s eighth bill to be enacted and is the first bill in the Black Maternal Health Momnibus Act to pass through Congress

Congresswoman Lauren Underwood (IL-14), a member of the House Committee on Veterans’ Affairs, announced that her bipartisan legislation to improve maternal health care for veterans passed the House with bipartisan support. The legislation, which is the first bill in the Black Maternal Health Momnibus Act (H.R. 959) to pass through Congress, now heads to the President’s desk to be signed into law.

The Protecting Moms Who Served Act seeks to eliminate maternal mortality, morbidity, and disparities among veterans. It is the eighth piece of Underwood-led legislation to be enacted.

The Black Maternal Health Momnibus Act, led by Underwood, was reintroduced in February with Rep. Alma Adams (NC-12) and Senator Cory Booker (D-NJ). The Momnibus builds on existing maternal health legislation with 12 bills to comprehensively address the clinical and non-clinical drivers of the maternal health crisis in the United States. The Momnibus makes critical investments in addressing social determinants of health, funding community-based organizations, growing and diversifying the perinatal workforce, and improving data collection processes.

We need your Support!

Please know that our work is not done! We hope to continue to count on you and your support next year. Your donations are seeds you’ve sown to further the fight to end maternal mortality. Consider becoming a recurring donor and help BMMA remain grounded in our focus areas:

Culture Shift, Policy, Advocacy, Research, and Programs.

A gift at any level can have an impact:
- $50 - Enables us to educate and engage thousands of healthcare providers, patients, and birth workers by hosting online maternal health webinars.
- $100 - Contributes to the success of BMMA's annual Black Maternal Health Week National Campaign.
- $250 - Allows us to update the BMMA toolkit, a rich document complete with research, state policies, resources and talking points for anyone interested in maternal health for black women.
- $500 - Enables us to conduct and contribute to research to impact practices of medical providers, advance policies and bring awareness to black maternal health.
- $1000 - Helps us present our national health conference and training institute convening partners on policy reform.
